

Creating tomorrow's leaders – TODAY

Leo clubs offer resources and opportunities for young people to develop their skills and grow both individually and collectively. And in doing so, they can set themselves up to become beacons of leadership and change locally, nationally and internationally.

Your experience with with a Leo club can differ based on the types of Leo clubs you're engaging. Consider the time and level of engagement your Lions club can commit to when deciding to start a Leo club. Younger Leos may require more hands on supervision and support to complete projects, while older Leos may already have the skills to organize and serve independently.

Energize and empower your Lions club

Your involvement with a Leo club can lead to great things for your Lions club members — like inspiring and energizing your members to get involved even further. What's more, the Leo Club Program can increase your Lions club's exposure within your community, attracting potential members such as young professionals, parents and families.

Join our legacy of service and success

Leo clubs are sponsored by local Lions clubs through Lions Clubs International — the world's largest community service organization with 1.4 million members across the globe. The first Leo club was started in 1957, and there are now more than 7,000 Leo clubs around the world.

By starting a local Leo club, you're helping positively influence young people and provide them with an opportunity to begin their leadership journey. Here, they'll be able to grow and develop valuable skills, serve others in their neighborhoods and enact change around the world.

Whether school-affiliated or community based, Leo clubs provide their members with an enjoyable and interactive way to reach their full potential as leaders — through community service projects, social functions and leadership development activities.
