Veterans Health Administration Patient Experience at the Intersection of Gender and Race-Ethnicity: Special Report from the National Veteran Health Equity Report

VHA Office of Health Equity (OHE) is pleased to release a new, special report as part of the ongoing series of chartbooks based on information from the 2021 National Veterans Health Equity Report (NVHER) for specific groups of Veterans.

Veterans Health Administration Patient Experience at the Intersection of Gender and Race-Ethnicity: Special Report from the National Veteran Health Equity Report

This unique report assesses disparities while bringing awareness to the complexity of gender, race and ethnicity by focusing on disparities in patient experiences and health care quality for women Veterans who obtain health care services through VHA.

Women Veterans are the fastest growing subpopulation of Veterans and are projected to make up 18% of all Veterans by 2040. Additionally women Veterans are more racially and ethnically diverse than male Veterans. This report's purpose is to examine the experiences of this population to continue to better improve care and experiences for women Veterans.

For more information about VHA's efforts to improve care for women Veterans, check out more of OHE's resources below:
